Evolve New Plan

F. M. Lucore, chairman of the Less-an-cur-boad committee for the south-estern region, F. S. Ralirond adminis-ition, arrived bers from New Orleans hursday to make a study of the local tuation pertaining to less-than-car-al shipments; with a view to a gen-al modification of routings and meth-its of handling package shipments for entire country.

For instance, package shipments for lemphis territory, originating in territory near Boston, would be first shiped to Boston, loaded in a through car or Memphis, where the car would be inloaded and shipments sent out to heir destination in this territory. Ootherwise such shipments might have to e transferred from car to car a number of times while enroute, thereby reatly increasing the liability to damge in shipping and require much long-rime in transit. It is hoped to work out routings so but this plan may be put into effect ill over the country. This plan will also avoid a great deal of congestion at ransfer points, it is claimed and greatly reduce the amount of labor required it transfer points.

Says Coolby

Several ladies connected with the Woman's Central committee, which has been working to secure a large registration of women, as a nonpartisan organization, have complained to the election commissioners of alleged activity of some of the registrars for the Williams ticket. Milton J. Anderson, one of the election commissioners goade's personal investigation in half a dozen wards in the downlown district Thursday and warned the registrars not to display any partisan political activity. He found that in one instance, in the Pirst ward, where such complaints had been made, the alleged offensive activity for Williams was not on the part of the registrars, but that offensive remarks had been made by an outsider. Mr. Anderson is determined, he says, to have an homest election and not to permit any crooked work during the present registration. KNOXVILLE STREET CAR MEN ASK 50-CENT HOUR Best eats

BIG PECAN CROP.

NATCHEZ, Miss, Oct. 16, (Spl.)— The largest pecan crop in many years is reported by local nut buyers, who estimate the yield in this section of Missisgippi and Louisiana to be five or six times as great as last year. The nuts are of good quality and large size. At present 19 and 29 cents per pound is being paid, but it is expected that as the crop is gathered there will be a drop in prices.

for the time and entertainment; it goes in the paper.

"An I see it." she asked, clapping her hands like a child. "I no reada, but husband—he cana."

Nodding. I went down the stairs. Below the yellow men waited. I seemed to be something of which they knew nothing—something different from all that had oome their way—but this time they bowed from behind panel and curtain. The man that ungraciously let me enter, opened the door to let me out, "Thank Chu Woo." said I bowing as I wedged myself through the crack to the outside.

There a number of people gathered somehow it had circled around that something that had never been done before had happened—a wite person—a girl—had visited the club. Plodding homeward many a curious person searched my face for the spell of the Orient was upon me.

The promoters of the plan hope to bind into a compact organization 126 local co-operative sweet potate marketing associations in Arlansas for the purpose of marketing the large crop of yams which was produced this year.

A state-wide marketing organization is needed by the Arkansas sweet potato growers because of the broad growth of their industry this season, Mr. Watson states. In Texarkana alone there are 21 storage houses for sweet potatoes, representing a storage capacity of $50,-100 bushels. Over 100 storage houses have been built in the state since July 1, each having a capacity of from 5,000 to 30,000 bushels.

"Before the season is over," said Mr. Watson, "I hope to have a tri-state meeting of sweet potato grower asnd form it tri-state co-operative association. Sweet potato growing is becoming a great industry in the tri-state territory, and such an association must be formed if the industry is to be given the fullest opportunity to develop."

The growers at the Little Rock meeting will agree on a standard package for their product and adopt the federal grades and standards.

On Oct. 21 Mr. Watson will attend a conference of the saricultural extension forces of Mississippi at Jackson, Miss.

On Oct. 28 the extension forces of West Tennessee will confer with him at Memphis.

OVERCOATS DUE FRIDAY MORNING

Bring forth the overcoats, you who have such a garment packed away among the moth-balls or hung up behind the balls, for on the morrow you get your first real taste of winter. So sayeth the weather bureau, official prognosticator of climatic conditions to his royal highness, Uncis Sam.

Official statement as to the approximate temperature is wholly lacking, the announcement contenting itself with the usual expression "fair and much colder."

colder."

The average date for the first frost is Oct. 21, while Nov. 3 is the average date for the first killing frost in Memphis. Whether the predicted cold wave will reach a degree that will bring with it a killing frost or even a light frost, weather officials decline to say, but they are reasonably sure that the mercury will take a sufficient drop to please the most ardent lover of the chilling binsts.
